

I think that in this election that it is important to remember the American people and regardless to who i support in this election i think the people of this country deserve better campaigning methods than the negative ads that are constantly being presented before them.